Sweeties,

Hi gals! How's everyone? I'm doing really well. I've got a full-time job working for Hewlett-Packard, a world-wide electronics company. I'm in the "instrument production" part of the "microwave" division. I make cables, circuit connectors, blocking capacitors, video assemblies, marker assemblies, and transformers for spectrum osculators and don't dare ask me to explain any of it! Hah! I really like it there and I've made loads of friends who are very close to me.

I'm going to night school here at the J.C. I'm taking Masterpieces of Literature and Folk Dancing. F.D. is lots of fun. About 70 students - 50-50 male-female. Lit. is not so fun. We're reading

The Christmas that Almost Wasn't

Once upon a time, a way up there at the north pole, when the hustle and bustle of Christmas preparation of toys and goodies for children everywhere was just getting under way--GRUMBLINGS were heard in Santa's workshop. . . . . .

Elf 1: (hammering his thumb) OW! I hammered my thumb again. And what help do I get? Not much.

Elf 2: Yes, sirss . . . . I've been working here 195 years, (which is quite a long time for an elf) and I haven't even had a vacation yet yet!

Elf 3: Why just the other day I was reading a newspaper from Lamoni and they get paid for doing jobs like this. They call it "manual labor!"

Elf 1: That sounds just terrible--manual labor!

Elf 2: Just think, I've been doing this "manual labor" all my life (195 years to be exact) and Santa never even told me.

Elf 3: He probably was afraid you'd quit or even STRIKE! All we ever get around here is food, a place to sleep and we're stranded here at the North Pole with the same elves year after year.

Elf 2: (Holding up thumb) No Hospitalization or Accident Insurance, No Paid Vacations, No old age pensions (no fun and games at all) . . . .

Elf 1: Oh, but you both forgot something that we do have plenty of around here . . . .

Others: What?

Elf 1: WORK! (all laugh)

Little Elf: You are very naughty elves, you're thinking only of yourselves. Think of all the boys and girls who depend upon us for their Christmas toys. Can you imagine how sad they would be if on Christmas morning they found their stockings empty and they had been good all year? We couldn't let anything like that happen!

Elf 1: No, little Elf, we've made up our minds we're going to Strike.

Elf 3: But you're right Little Elf, Santa wouldn't let anything like that happen--he'll just have to get someone else to make the toys from now on!

(All laugh except Little Elf)

(March around saying) We're on Strike! We're on Strike! strike, Strike, STRIKE!!!

(Enter Santa, all notice his presence except for Elf 1, and become quiet but Elf 1 continues . . .)

Elf 1: We're on Str. . . (stops and sees Santa, acts embarrassed)

Santa: My dear little Elves, I'm so very sorry you want to go on Strike because that means you're not happy. And after all, Christmas, and my going around in my sleigh giving presents every year is just to make others happy. And now I find out that my own helpers aren't even happy. You shall all have a vacation.

All Elves except L.E.: Yahoo! Oh, boy! Goodie! etc. (exit)

Santa: Why little Elf, don't you want a vacation?

Little Elf: Oh, Santa, the other elves are on strike for such selfish reasons, they just want to sleep in til noon and eat five meals a day and play games. They'll be sorry. I'll help you in the workshop.

Santa: I'm afraid we'll need more help than just you and me and Mrs. Santa... What shall we do?

(Roaring noise is heard--it gets louder--stage shakes--Enter Dr. Boris Von Gritch)

Boris: Never fear, the one and only Dr. Boris Von Gritch is here! I take it you're Mr. Santa Claus?

Santa: Yes, I am, Dr. Von Gritch, and I do need help, but how did you know so soon?I just got done saying "help" and here you are!

O come my Banks

Gee Mom I wanna come home!

Graceland Forever!

So this is Graceland College
I'm really glad I'm here
I'm not sure what I'm doing
It's only my 6th year.

GRACELAND LIFE

The residence halls we live in
they say are ~~mighty fine~~ NEAT & CLEAN
But you should see our showers
the walls are turning green

The bisquits they give us
they say are really fine
But one rolled off the table and killed a friend of mine.

The sidewalks that we walk on they say are really stud
but how the heck do we know they're underneasth the mud.

The toilets that give us
they say are really fine
My roommate flushed the toilet and now the room is mine.

The movies Cosa gives us
are always up to date
The newest one they showed us was made in 1908!

~~The showers that they give us~~
~~they say are really fine~~
~~My roommate took a shower~~
~~her skin grafe's doing fine.~~

The washers that they give us
they say are very sturdy
They always eat your quarter and clothes still come out dirty.

~~The teachers that they give us~~
~~they say are just sublime~~
~~But I don't see the difference~~
~~between Bobbit and Frankenstein.~~

The boyfriends that they give us
They say are really fine
But how the heck do I know
My roommate's out with mine.

CHORUS:
Oh! I don't want no more of Graceland Life
Gee Mom, I wanna go, but they won't let me go,
Gee Mom, I wanna go home. come

Graceland Forever. Dear alma mater. Long may she ever firm keep her stand. Her sons and daughters carry to others her fame throughout the land. Graceland C College, we're all for you. Strong, united, loyal, and true. We'll carry on, till victory is won. Oh, Graceland we're all for you.
